(CBS13) SACRAMENTO A realtor attacked and robbed, but it may not have been her job that put her in danger, and it most likely wasn't her money thieves were after.

"I know something was wrong. I'm second guessing it now but something didn't feel right that day," says realtor Wanda Christensen.

After putting up open house signs off Stockton Boulevard, Wanda noticed a car tailgating her.

She drove just a couple blocks to her open house, ending up trapped in a dead end street. The car blocked her, but after about a minute drove off, moments later Wanda realized she wasn't alone.

"The young man came from that corner and just came running at me," she says.

Wanda and her attacker flew 15 feet, the impact shattered one of her fingers. Two more men came running up the street. The attackers didn't care their victim was a 57-year-old grandmother. They wanted her two-month-old $65,000 thousand dollar Audi, but they didn't get it. After Wanda was on the ground, the three men jumped in her car.

"But they couldn't get it started, apparently the concept of stepping on the break while pushing the start button proved a little too complicated. I don't thing they could figure it out," she says.

With neighbors coming of their homes, they didn't have time. A witness who saw the car that tailgated Wanda is car buff. He said the car was a mid 90's metallic green Chevy Impala SS.

Wanda believes the next time these guys see something they want, they could get even more violent.
